Schools to shut as part of strike action

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@HPnorthants.co.uk

MORE than 70 schools across the county are expected to be closed today as part of a national strike.

Five trade unions in Northamptonshire are hoping for solidarity among their members as they fight back against what they see as attacks on public sector workers.

The strike is expected to affect schools, colleges, universities, job centres, tax offices and the courts.

Among the unions taking strike action today are members of University College Union (UCU), the National Union of Teachers (NUT), the Association of Teachers and Lecturers (ATL), National Association of Head Teachers (NAHT) and the Public and Commercial Services Union (PCS).

Commenting on the situation with the schools, a spokeswoman from Northamptonshire County Council said: "I can confirm the following figures. Of the 197 schools which have contacted us, 107 schools expect to be disrupted, with 77 of those 107 schools closing and 30 partially closed.

"There are 315 schools in Northamptonshire.

"All closure information will be available today on the council's school closure webpage www.northamptonshire.gov.uk/ismyschoolclosed."

Lewis Bevan from PCS said: "The national talks have not been constructive. Locally we are very disappointed as we thought there might have been some movement.

"We are determined to show solidarity. We have had off site meetings and there are very strong feelings among members.

"There will be pickets at Northgate House in Sheep Street and Princess House in Cliftonville, Northampton."

Mr Bevan added that people are very angry about the Government's proposals which will see them having to pay an extra £60, £70 or even £80 a month and work five or six years longer than when they thought they would have retired.

Ron Mendel from UCU said: "We will be having two pickets at the main entrance of Park Campus, Northampton.

"They will be set up from 8am to 9.30am.

"There is no formal teaching going on at this time but we will be handing out leaflets to non-academic, administrative, estates, security and cleaning staff.

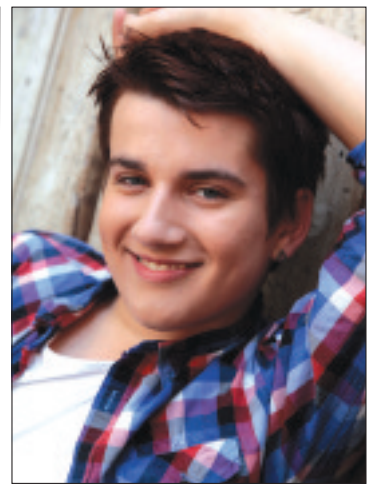

"We want them to know the purpose of the strike.

"The law is very strict and we can't ask them not to work.

"The message the UNISON members will receive is not to do anything outside their contract.

"As they start early and finish early we hope they will attend the rally at the Guildhall."

Today there will be a rally and public meeting at the Guildhall in Northampton from 12.30pm.

Adam's looking good for semi-final spot

A STUDENT from Northampton College is hoping to get into the semi-finals of a national modelling competition after being spotted while in London.

Adam Monk (pictured above), 17, who studies musical theatre, is in the last 25 of British Top Model after being scouted out at a dance convention in March.

The competition will be decided by the public vote and Adam hopes to get through to the next round.

He said: "I am absolutely delighted to be in the quarter finals but would love to put Northamptonshire 'on the map' by getting through to the semi-finals and hopefully even the finals. I would like to ask the people of Northamptonshire to support me in this by voting for me."

For details on how to vote for Adam visit www.northampton-news-hp.co.uk

MP's 'honour' to announce Jubilee gift to Queen

Michael Ellis

NORTHAMPTON North MP Michael Ellis has spoken of his honour after announcing the Queen's Diamond Jubilee gift.

The MP is the chairman of a cross party group which is organising the events that will commemorate the Queen's 60 years on the throne next year.

As part of the celebrations, Parliament will present the gift of a stained glass window bearing the monarch's coat of arms in Westminster Hall. The design will be in the north window and be opposite the coat of arms of her father.

Previous gifts have included a fountain and a sun dial.

Mr Ellis said: "It has been an absolute honour to work on this in my first year of Parliament but this is not about me. It has taken a lot of work by several different people and groups to get this project going and there is plenty more to do."

The MP has reassured taxpayers that their money will not be used to fund the window, with financing coming from a whip-round of MPs and Lords.

Mr Ellis added: "We are asking every member of the House of Commons and House of Lords to donate and we are not even claiming Gift Aid in order to make sure no public money is used in the project."

The window is expected to cost around £85,000.

Son to go on trial for father's death as manslaughter plea is rejected

A MAN admitted killing his 94-year-old father on Tuesday at Northampton Crown Court.

John Zebedee, 54, of Waverley Road, Reading, denies murdering his father Harry Zebedee but pleaded guilty to manslaughter on the ground of diminished responsibility.

Harry Zebedee was found dead at his home in the quiet village of Slapton, near Towcester, earlier this year.

However, prosecutors refused to accept his plea and a trial will take place later this year.

Cops relying on 'good, old fashioned police work' on. Anxiang Du doesn't use a mobile phone. He hasn't touched his bank account and is very much a loner figure, so we will be very much relying on good old fashioned police work to get him."

The police have also said that they do not know how much money Du had on him at the start of the manhunt but think he will have now run out of cash.

DS Timmins added: "We were never in a position to understand how much money he had on him in the first place but it is my belief that he would have exhausted all of it by now and would be relying on others to support him."

On the two month mark after the Royal Wedding murders the police have re-appealed to the public for any information that could lead to Du.

They have also revealed that some members of the Ding family (pictured right) will be visiting Northampton to see how the investigation is progressing.

School leads the way in fight against bullying

A NORTHAMPTON school has become the first to be recognised for its attempt to tackle bullying.

Campion School, in Bugbrooke, has been awarded a gold award for its commitment and performance in preventing bullying.

Kay Tunnicliff, anti-bullying lead at Campion, said: "We are delighted to be the first and only school in the county to receive this award."

Campion School is one of 96 schools and youth groups to sign up to the Northamptonshire anti-bullying accreditation programme.

Enterprise Zone to bring town employment boost

BY JONATHAN REILLY
jonathan.reilly@hpnorthants.co.uk

THOUSANDS of new jobs could be created in Northampton as part of regeneration plans to large sections of the town.

The riverside could become host to an Enterprise Zone and should a new bid be successful more than 14,000 new jobs could be created.

The scheme has been put together by South East Midlands Local Enterprise Partnership (SEMLEP) which hopes it will provide economic growth in the area.

Northampton North MP Michael Ellis believes that the proposals can only be good for the town.

He said: "I am pleased and very supportive of what will be a very important project if Northampton is successful in becoming an Enterprise Zone.

"There will be three immediate benefits to the town. The first would see high speed broadband prioritised, which encourages businesses. The second would be more simple planning regulations and thirdly, there would be tax breaks for start-up businesses.

"If we are successful, there will be an awful lot of new jobs created in the town and that is good for our economy so I am fully supportive of the bid."

The zone is already being supported by several key players including the University of Northampton, Northamptonshire County Council, Cosworth, Carlsberg and Legal & General, who own the Grosvenor shopping centre. Brian Hibbert CBE, chairman of the Interim SEMLEP Board, said: "We have looked carefully at our strengths and assets and are convinced that our bid can deliver massive growth.

"The support and infrastructure is already there to ensure Northampton Waterside Enterprise Zone attracts significant investment and creates jobs, benefiting the local and regional economy."

Councillor David Paethorpe, Leader of Northampton Borough Council said: "An Enterprise Zone would unlock Northampton's potential to create a vibrant and exciting business community and economic hub. This would not only be good for our town but the whole region."

When Choosing a Funeral Director...

The main questions you will have is how will I know which one is right for me?

Who is capable of providing the advice and support I need?

Who understands my needs to make this a personal service for my loved one?

And who will give me the confidence of knowing my loved one is in safe hands?

You can be assured that we offer the individual care and support that only an independent funeral director can offer. We have both the commitment and experience to ensure that you and your loved one are indeed in safe hands.

Wind farms have their place in right location

COUNCILLOR John McGhee makes much of the council's decision to turn off street lights (Herald & Post June 23) and I am not entering into the whys and wherefores of that.

However, I do take issue with him over his comment regarding wind farms and how good they are, that they 'pay for themselves within five to ten years' and are environmentally friendly.

Wind farms have their place and that place is best positioned out to sea. Wind farms are quoted as being 'the best thing since sliced bread' and are very much the buzz word of the moment in Parliament and national press.

However, it is most often conveniently forgotten that every wind farm that is erected is probably done by a company who wants to make money.

Huge subsidies are paid to these companies; taxpayers' money, so they are not as cheap as everyone makes out. With this in mind they are more often than not placed in extremely unsuitable sites, just so that a landowner – council or private – and the developer can make money. Very often they do not work because, a) there is not enough wind; b) there is too much wind and very often when they seem to be working they have to be turned off because they are making 'too much' power and there is nowhere to store it!

Likewise we are all urged to fill our cavity walls when a large number of architects and surveyors are now telling us that filling them is not what they are meant for.

These walls are supposed to keep heat and cold at bay and more importantly, damp. If you fill the cavity walls you are risking transferring damp from the outside to the inside of walls and air bricks are blocked up. This so called improvement could prove to be extremely detrimental and costly in years to come. In the quest to insulate we are in grave danger of never letting any sort of fresh air into our houses and it has been proved to be bad for people to live permanently in sealed units.

What Government should be doing is laying down legislation that all houses are built to a higher standard with proper insulation in the future and that all houses should also be built with some sort of solar panels.

As it is, houses are still being thrown up in the same old way and we are no closer to building the proper modern insulated houses that are built in Scandinavia as a matter of course.

These houses would probably cost more but we should not then have to carry out further 'improvements' and they should not cost so much to run.

Funds will make it safer for kids to walk

I AM writing in response to the publication of a letter by Ken Shields in the H&P (June 30) regarding St Luke's CEVA Primary School.

The publication of such a poorly researched opinion is both misleading and irresponsible.

In 2008 St Luke's CEVA Primary School was relocated (with the choice of relocate or close) from the centre of Duston village to the new St Crispins housing development, meaning that families who chose St Luke's for its close proximity to home, were then faced with a much longer journey to school.

The lack of alternative foot access means that many have little choice but to drive to school.

The narrow road which runs between the school and the Extra Care retirement village is a bus route and is used by construction traffic.

It has no pedestrian crossings and in many places the footpaths remain dangerously unfinished. Parents and local residents are understandably frustrated but surely the fault lies with council planners for allowing a school and a retirement village to be built with insufficient infrastructure and scant regard for safety.

I am sad to learn that the school has been burdened with raising £20,000 to rectify this blunder.

The proposed alternative access is to aid children to walk to school safely and to allow the school to evacuate safely in an emergency.

I sincerely hope that the publication of Mr Shield's comments will not deter people from supporting this worthy cause.

Surely you will have the decency to publish this letter by way of an apology and to support the schools campaign to raise the necessary funds to keep children safe.

It is a monthly cost making the difference

YOU published a piece in the H&P (June 23) about the industrial action being taken by public sector trade union members today, June 30 in defence of our pension arrangements but unfortunately, I was mis-quoted in this article.

If the proposed extra costs to our members were only 'an extra £60, £70 or even £80 a year' it wouldn't be quite so bad but the extra payments they will be required to make are actually £60, £70 or even £80 per month.

By way of illustration a 30-year-old colleague who currently earns £24,500pa faces extra payments of £61.25 per month for the rest of her working life which it is proposed will be extended by three years.

This represents an extra tax on all of our members to pay for a financial crisis they did not cause at a time when their pay has been frozen for two years.

Perhaps this illustrates why our members are so angry and why they will be taking industrial action today.

Pervert jailed for 'nightmare' abuse

BY JONATHAN REILLY

jonathan.reilly@HPnorthants.co.uk

A CHILD rapist who subjected three of his victims to abuse more than 30 years ago will almost certainly die in prison after being jailed for 15 years.

John Skelton, 65, was told by a judge that his victims were 'imprisoned in a nightmare' of abuse that, in one case, lasted for more than a decade.

His perverse acts were found out when he returned to Northampton in 2009 having retired to Turkey after being diagnosed with cancer.

Skelton, of Spanslade Road, Northampton, was jailed after he pleaded guilty to his crimes just before his trial last month.

He had been due to be tried for rape, sexual assault and gross indecency towards children, who cannot be named for legal reasons.

On Friday Northampton Crown Court heard how he had manipulated his victims over long periods of time.

JAILED: John Skelton

Joe Spice, prosecuting, said: "He told one of the girls it would help her in later life. He said 'Your future boyfriend or husband will thank me.'"

Mr Spice added: "He handed one of the victims a pornographic magazine, telling her to look at it so that she could get ideas to become sexier."

The court also heard how Skelton had taken indecent images of the abuse with a camera and heard detailed accounts of what happened.

Sentencing Skelton to 15 years Judge Michael Fowler said: "You are 65 and have no previous convictions before this. But these offences are historical and were over a prolonged period of time."

"Those who suffered at your hands are children who were imprisoned in a nightmare. One can only imagine how damaging that was."

"You clearly have a taste for very young children made worse by your perverting them with photographs and pornography."

Skelton, who suffers from colon cancer, will more than likely die in prison for his crimes.

Mitigating Richard Holloway said: "He pleaded guilty and he hopes that his victims can have some closure from that."

He added that Skelton probably wouldn't live for more than a year

Doddington turn in Earls Barton.

After losing control of the bike, Mr Pink is said to have collided with the roadside furniture.

He died later after being taken to hospital.

TalkingPoint

This week's guest columnist is Paul Griffiths, chief executive of Northamptonshire Chamber

Exporting can be a real boost

East Midlands exports hit £4,416 million for the first three months of 2011, according to recent figures published by the UKTI. This is the highest quarterly figure in the last three years and an increase of 12 per cent year on year.

Last quarter, the East Midlands had the lowest regional increase compared to the same period of the previous year. These new figures push East Midlands up the export table, though we are still below the national average increase of 17.6 per cent.

At the Chamber we have received feedback from our member companies in Northamptonshire that echo these figures. Local firms are reporting an increase in orders from overseas and some have even had to employ additional staff. Whilst this is good news, there are still many businesses that do not see the value in exporting. A recent BCC survey showed that nearly 70 per cent of UK firms don't export.

Exporting offers a real opportunity to grow our economy, so we need to go out there and maximise this potential. Whilst it may seem daunting to those that have never tried it, if you put in the time and effort, the results can be staggering. Exporting to boost the local and national economies is a priority for the Chamber and part of our Year for Growth agenda for 2011.

We outlined moves at the beginning of the year to support new exporters and encourage them to enter new markets and are working with UKTI, which provides companies with support in finding these markets and regularly holds free information events. Along with our counterparts in the British Chambers of Commerce network, we are also lobbying Government to simplify and keep promises on issues such as trade finance and insurance.

Elsewhere at the Chamber, we have been working with the eBusiness Club to roll out a programme of free summer seminars and workshops, focusing on the use of the internet, online marketing and social media to drive businesses forward (for a list of these go to www.northants-chamber.co.uk/events/ebusiness-events).

Also, in a nod to David Cameron's Big Society concept, the Chamber has teamed up with the Northampton Volunteering Centre to offer registered charities across Northamptonshire the opportunity to join the Chamber at exclusive reduced rates. This will allow them to interact with local businesses and raise the profile of their charity at a fraction of the usual membership cost.

I encourage the businesses and charities in our county to explore new markets, technologies and ideas that are open to them and they may just be surprised at the rewards.

Exporting offers a real opportunity to grow our economy, so we need to go out there and maximise this potential

Cheshire may help police save money

BY JONATHAN REILLY

jonathan.reilly@HPnorthants.co.uk

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE Police have put forward a cash saving plan with another force, which are 130 miles away.

Local cops have suggested saving money by merging back office procedures with the Cheshire Constabulary.

Police have said that the link up is based on the similarities in the forces, despite their geographical distance.

A spokeswoman for Northamptonshire Police said: "The proposed shared services scheme was linked with the Cheshire Constabulary based on the similarities of the two forces, in their numbers, crimes in the area and size of the general population."

The plans were discussed at a meeting between the two forces on June 14 and a full case will be decided on by Northamptonshire Police

POLICE HQ: Wootton Hall in Northampton

Authority on July 27. A statement from the police said: "The shared service partnership being discussed is founded on an agreement to combine the delivery of certain services in order to deliver efficiencies and financial savings for both partners."

"This will require investment in new technology but also transform working practices, so reducing duplication and bureaucracy whilst providing easier access to information and quicker decision making for local officers and staff."

The move is part of wider cuts to save £18.9 million over the next four years which the police have described as being 'a significant challenge.'

HAMMER: Sir
Cyril Humphrey
Cripps and below,
the 'Post Office
Mauritius' stamp

It's pricey post as stamp sells for record £1 million

If you think the 46p price of a first class stamp was expensive, look away now.

A stamp belonging to the former High Sheriff of Northamptonshire has sold for more than £1 million at auction this week.

The 'Post Office Mauritius' was sold on Tuesday for a record breaking £1,053,090 at Spink in London. The rare stamp was part of the The Chartwell Collection, collated by former Velcro chairman and High Sheriff of Northamptonshire Sir Cyril Humphrey Cripps.

Sir Humphrey's entire collection is now up for sale following his death in 2000 and the total lot is expected to fetch around £20m.

Bogus Du calls hit Ding probe

BY JONATHAN REILLY
jonathan.reilly@HPnorthants.co.uk

POLICE have revealed that they have been pestered by hoax sightings of Britain's most wanted man Anxiang Du.

Officers have been pleading for information from the public as Du is wanted in connection with the murder of the Ding family two months ago yesterday.

Jeff and his wife Helen were found stabbed to death in their home along with their daughters Xing and Alice.

Police have been searching for Du since he was last seen on CCTV in London eight weeks ago but revealed this week that their investigation had been hampered by hoax calls.

Anxiang Du

Detective Superintendent Glyn Timmins said: "We have had a number of hoax calls and that has hampered the investigation. We take every sighting seriously and a hoax takes detectives away from the investigation for nothing. We know for certain we had one this week on Monday. Obviously we get some well-intentioned calls too that turn out to be wrong but that cannot be helped."

The lead investigator revealed that the calls coming in on the murders had slowed down in recent weeks despite the high profile case being shown on both Crimewatch and This Morning.

DS Timmins said: "The calls have trickled through in recent weeks as you would expect. But that does not mean that we have not got leads to follow up on. We will be following up several parts of the investigation in the coming weeks and we will be heading out onto the ground at every available possibility."

Cops say murder suspect may have fled abroad

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE Police have said that it will take 'good old fashioned police work' to catch Du, as they reveal that their search for the suspect may head abroad.

DS Timmins, who is leading the investigations, had always suspected that Du was being sheltered somewhere in the UK.

However, now he admits the search may be widened overseas.

He said: "I've long felt that he was being sheltered somewhere in London but it may well be that he has been able to leave the UK, particularly with the free travel through Europe."

UK border points have been sent details of Du but there has been no sign of his attempt to leave.

DS Timmins believes though that the search will have to be widened.

He said: "How much does it cost to get a false passport?"

"If he is moving in the right circles he would have been able to get one and leave the country by now.

"Still though we are bedded in for the long haul and we are determined to bring this man in for questioning and to face justice.

"This is about rattling cages and leaving no stone unturned. I still think he has received help from someone, so it is until that person calls up with that vital piece that we will be able to move

Danger warning after spate of gas pipe thefts

POLICE are warning residents to be alert after a number of gas pipes were reported stolen in recent weeks.

Around 15 thefts have been recorded in the last two months in Northampton and Wellingborough. Thieves cut the pipe as it comes out of the ground and enters the meter box.

Police are also seeking information on anyone selling scrap copper piping. Inspector Daemon Johnson said: "These thefts are potentially putting the public, emergency services and the offenders themselves at considerable risk."

"Please report any suspicious activity to Northamptonshire Police so we can find those responsible."

Witnesses should call police on 03000 111 222.

Daughter's agony as images stolen

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@HNorthants.co.uk

HELEN Franks has been left devastated after a thief stole a hard drive containing cherished photographs of her mum.

When she discovered the theft, Ms Franks was beside herself that someone could have stolen the device which contained the final pictures of her mother, Patricia Chater, who died on June 5.

The images were taken during the last year of her life and are cherished by Ms Franks.

The theft happened at about 4.15am on Sunday morning when her Renault Clio parked in Birchfield Road East, Northampton, was broken into.

The offender stole the Buffalo ITB external hard drive which was in a red-and-white box and a fold-up walking stick which belonged to her mum.

Helen Franks' son James and late mum

Speaking to the Herald & Post, Ms Franks, 38, said: "I have been struggling with all that has happened. She was diagnosed with cancer in April and it all happened so quickly.

"I never leave anything in the boot but I just could not bring myself to take the walking stick out as leaving it there was comforting.

"As a result of the theft, I was devastated. I had to keep the pictures on a hard drive as I couldn't burn a CD so that was my back up.

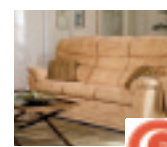

"I am even thinking of offering a reward for its return.

"I can't believe it has gone."

As well as containing pictures of her mum, the hard drive contains pictures of Ms Franks' six-year-old son James.

Anyone with information should call Northamptonshire Police on 03000 111 222.

Honouring our troops

SOLDIERS marched into Northampton as the town celebrated Armed Forces Day on Saturday.

The Market Square hosted serving troops, veterans and cadets to celebrate those who fight for their country.

There were displays and stalls from the Royal British Legion, Army Benevolent Fund, Royal Anglians and RAF recruitment, Air Cadets, Territorial Army and British Military Fitness. The day also featured a performance from the Minden Band of the Queen's Division.

Councillor Michael Hill, Northampton Borough Council's cabinet member for community engagement said: "As someone who has worked in the Royal Navy I know only too well how important the connection is between service personnel and their home town."

11 areas to pay for own lollipop lady

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrencejohn@HPnorthants.co.uk

COMMUNITIES across Northamptonshire have bitten the bullet and decided to pay for a school crossing patrol.

So far 11 areas have stepped forward to stump up the cash after being approached by the county council to embrace the new way of working.

In addition, six other groups have indicated a strong interest in taking part.

The idea of communities having to pay for this service was put forward as part of the council's aim to save £201,000 by getting rid of the lollipop ladies.

For each site that wants a crossing patrol needs to raise £3,900 a year for at least three years but you can give six months notice to leave the scheme.

Legally, school crossing patrol officers have to be employed by the county council so they have the powers to stop vehicles at crossings.

The scheme will mean the patrollers are employed by the authority but the service will not be cost them anything as this is covered by the communities themselves. County council cabinet member for infrastructure and public protection, Cllr Andre Gonzalez De Savage, said: "I'd like to applaud local communities for reacting to this proposal in such a positive way and this shows just what can be done when people come together and work towards something they really want."

"Because of basic recruitment, administrative and training costs, the more communities that take part in the scheme the more cost-effective it becomes per site."

"We said we'd need at least ten communities to take part so we're delighted to now have 11 which have signed up."

"However, this doesn't mean we've drawn a line under the scheme. If at a later date other communities wish to take part, they'd of course be very welcome."

Among the 11 areas signed up so far include Blisworth High Street, Higham Ferrers Wharf/Saffron Road, Irchester High Street, Kilsingbury High Street and The Green in West Haddon.

Rise in temperatures raises 999 ambulance calls

THE mini heat wave during the weekend saw 999 calls to East Midlands Ambulance Service (EMAS) rocket.

On Saturday EMAS received 13 per cent more life-threatening (Cat A) emergency 999 calls than the same day last year.

This increased further on Sunday when calls were up 23 per cent.

Much of the increase was due to breathing problems and chest pains brought about due to the sudden high temperatures.

Breathing problems accounted for 17 per cent and chest pain 23 per cent of all Cat A responses.

Director of Operations Diane Lee said: "As we enter the summer months we are not expecting demand to ease – our service is always busy and people always need our help."

Driver's panic led to speedy pursuit

BY JONATHAN REILLY
jonathanreilly@HPnorthants.co.uk

A BANNED driver who was chased through the streets of Northampton in a dangerous car chase in a stolen van, 'panicked' a court has heard.

Christopher Woolridge, 19, from Northampton, was jailed for 16 months at Northampton Crown Court on Friday after admitting stealing the Mercedes Sprinter van and driving it dangerously on May 12.

Hannah Mettam, prosecuting, said: "The van was seen by an unmarked police car, who described seeing it driving at excessive speed with its tailgate down."

The car followed a route through Melrose Avenue, to Harlestone Road as the police chased the stolen van driven by Woolridge.

Ms Mettam said: "With the tailgate open there were sparks flying off the back of it and on several occasions he narrowly missed parked cars. He drove through a red light and at one point he mounted the pavement at speed."

A helicopter from Northamptonshire Police was brought out to help the chase, which ended in Kings Heath, when Woolridge got out of the van and ran from the vehicle, crossing a stream in the process.

Elizabeth Gooderham,

mitigating, said: "After seeing the police he initially panicked and by the time he realised the situation he felt it was too late to stop."

Recorder Adrian Redgrave sentenced Woolridge to 16 months in prison after he admitted aggravated vehicle taking, driving dangerously and driving without a licence or insurance and failing to stop. The court also heard that he had committed six previous similar offences.

He said: "You were lucky that you did not kill or maim anybody. Just to tell you that if you had, the maximum sentence you could have faced was 14 years."

Stylish Solanki hits half ton to sink Steelbacks

BY MARC BAZELEY
marcbazeley@HPhorthants.co.uk

AN UNBEATEN fifth wicket stand of 85 between Daryl Mitchell and Vikram Solanki condemned Northamptonshire Steelbacks to another Friends Life t20 defeat, this time by six wickets in a tense encounter with Worcestershire Royals at Milton Keynes' Campbell Park.

The result means the Steelbacks have still won just one of their nine matches in this year's Twenty20 tournament so far, and although qualification for the quarter finals is still mathematically possible, it will require them to win all of their remaining games and for results to go their way.

It could have easily been so different though. Chasing 130 to win, Worcestershire had slumped to 45/4 in the eighth over of their reply, with Northamptonshire bowler David Lucas doing the damage by taking 3-19 from his four overs.

It was 62 not out off of 61 balls from former England international Solanki that laid the platform for the win, with visiting captain Mitchell crushing 40 not out from 31 balls to make certain of the result in front of a healthy crowd of around 4,000.

Steelbacks skipper Andrew Hall was afforded the relative luxury of choosing what to do at the toss after winning it. Bat first was the choice, and his side posted a respectable 129/9 from their 20 overs, despite wickets falling at regular intervals preventing them from reaching a higher total. The innings had certainly begun in a positive manner, despite the early loss of Bilal Shafayat, thanks to opener Rob White's 33 from 27 balls. He was able to find the boundary on numerous occasions early on, including a well-struck six over mid-wicket off of Gareth Andrew in the second over.

When skipper Mitchell turned to the spinners it stemmed the avalanche of runs. However, it was young seamer Aneesh Kapil who made the breakthrough when White skied him to James Cameron, perhaps more out of frustration than anything else.

Despite being aged just 19 and having only a few limited overs matches under his belt, Kapil was able to tie the hosts down in an impressive four over spell that saw him return miserly figures of 3-9.

Niall O'Brien's quick-fire 33 from 27 injected some urgency into the Northants innings. Moeen Ali's short spell of off-spin proved particularly to the Irishman's liking as he clubbed him for two consecutive fours in the 11th over that went for 25 runs.

But when he became one of Kapil's victims the following over it started a slide. Pakistan international Saeed Ajmal in particular was able to tie the Steelbacks down culminating in a startling triple-wicket maiden in the final over.

Worcestershire's reply got off to a shaky start as they stumbled to 31/2 at the end of the first six overs of fielding restrictions. Lucas accounted for both Ali and Alexei Kervezee with Lee Daggett catching both. The latter got in on the wicket taking action when it was his turn to bowl, removing dangerous Bangladeshi all-rounder Shakib Al Hassan for five in the seventh over with a snorting delivery that clattered into the stumps.

Left arm seamer Lucas rounded off an impressive spell by claiming the wicket of James Cameron (four), thanks in no small part to the efforts of Hall when he leapt like a salmon to cling onto a fiercely-struck pull.

However, when Mitchell came to the crease it sparked a turnaround as he and Solanki dug in to stem the tide. A patient half century from Solanki kept the scoreboard ticking over, giving the captain the license to go for shots.

Mitchell's two boundaries off of spinner Johan Botha in the 16th over changed the complexion of the innings to help set up a nail-biting finish. However, the visitors stayed the course and sealed the win with three balls to spare.

Northamptonshire have little time to rest before their next game in the FLt20 North Division. They host Yorkshire Carnegie under the lights at the County Ground tomorrow night before travelling to Leicestershire Foxes on Sunday.

Prep school marks its diamond jubilee

SPRATTON Hall has been celebrating its 60th anniversary.

On Friday the co-educational independent day prep school enjoyed a traditional 'Spratton Hall tea' with a walk around for all ex pupils, parents and staff.

This was followed by a 'Proms in the Park' concert with all those associated with Spratton Hall, past and present, invited to come together to mark its 60 years of success. Students have also been researching and learning about the different decades the school has gone through.

The school's main building is a Grade II listed Georgian manor house, built in 1760.

This traditional house was converted into a boys' boarding school by KC Hunter and his wife Joan in 1951. It became co-educational in 1977 and a day-only school in 1987.

Over the past 60 years the school has had just four headteachers.

During this academic year a new sports dome has been completed, the science laboratories, catering facilities and dining hall have been refurbished and smart boards have been installed into classrooms.

In November Spratton Hall received an 'excellent' and 'outstanding' inspection report in every area by the Independent School's Inspectorate.

Cops go rural to put stop to crime

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrencejohn@HPnorthants.co.uk

RURAL and farm crime is under the microscope in South Northamptonshire.

The Towcester and Brackley Safer Community Teams (SCTs) have been carrying out a week of action which comes to an end on Sunday.

They decided to focus on this type of crime due to a recent increase in the area.

Officers are carrying out a number of policing activities and operations, including 'Have Your Say' days, surgeries to speak with local farmers, visits to farms and rural locations to offer crime prevention advice and handing out signage to members of Farm Watch to display at the front of their premises to discourage possible offenders.

Today a unique tractor will be outside Towcester Police Station.

South Northants Inspector Alex Terry said: "The main aim of the week is to raise awareness about crime prevention and security at rural locations and farms.

"We also hope to establish contacts and develop relationships with the rural and farming communities within South Northamptonshire."

Today and tomorrow representatives from the Community Safety Partnership will be at Waitrose in Towcester.

This will be a chance to complete a questionnaire and comment on what you feel the police and partners should be focusing on.

An activity day is also planned with the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency who provide a range of licensing, testing and enforcement services.

The mobile police station will be at the Northamptonshire Game Fayre at Brafield on Sunday where countryside and wildlife officer, Pc Claire Salmon, will be on hand to talk with visitors about rural crime.

This week people who live or work in the area can also register with the police Community Messaging System to receive timely and relevant crime information.

Updates about the events throughout the week will be posted on the @TowcesterSCT twitter account.

F1 diversions to keep roads in pole position

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@HPnorthants.co.uk

WHILE Silverstone is gearing up for Grand Prix action on the track, Northamptonshire's roads are once again preparing for the arrival of next month's big race.

Police in the county are again supporting the traffic plan which has been designed to manage vehicles around the circuit for the event from July 8-10.

The aim is to ensure motorists get into the event as quickly and safely as possible and also to help drivers not going to avoid it.

With interest in this year's Formula 1 race extremely high, a huge crowd and high volume of race traffic are anticipated.

As always, the police message to non-race traffic is clear, avoid the roads around Silverstone for the duration of the weekend.

Race traffic will be directed into the circuit via a one-way system on the A43 and the traffic flow will then be reversed at the end of the event.

A temporary restriction on heavy goods vehicles – those more than 7.5 tonnes – will be in place to avoid any of these vehicles becoming 'trapped' in the area.

This will apply between the hours of 4.30am and 9pm on all three days of the event. Chief Inspector Sean Bell, this year's Grand Prix event commander, said: "We strongly advise anyone not going to the Grand Prix to steer clear of Silverstone for the duration of the meeting. "In particular we would urge all road users to be patient and to make sure they pay attention to the signage for the event. We will be maximising the use of the road network in and around Silverstone to get everyone to and from the event as quickly and safely as possible.

"Motorway variable message signs will be used to warn road users about the closure prior to the event and motorists not coming to the Grand Prix should use alternative dual-carriageway or motorway routes well away from the A43."

All Grand Prix traffic approaching the M1 from either direction will be directed off the motorway at Junction 15A to join the A43 southbound and traffic on the A5 will filter into this traffic stream at Towcester.

Traffic approaching via the M40 will be routed along the A43 northbound from Junction 10.

Diversions will be in place both northbound and southbound.

Networking event for businesses

THE Homeworking Alliance will be holding a networking meeting for all small business owners and home-based workers on Tuesday, July 5 from 10am to noon at the Fayre & Square Restaurant, at Little Billing, Northampton. If it is your first meeting is is free.

Fundraising to leave Tony on top of world

BY JONATHAN REILLY
jonathan.reilly@HPnorthants.co.uk

A TEA shop owner is preparing to climb the highest mountain in Europe for charity.

Towcester Tea Rooms boss Tony McMurray has set the task of climbing Mont Blanc in the Alps as part of his annual fundraising challenge and has already raised more than £1,300 for two his chosen charities.

Money will go to the The Alzheimer's Society and Oxford Transplant Foundation, as both have a personal meaning to the catering company.

Mr McMurray is already a volunteer member of the Northants Alzheimer's Society as his mother was diagnosed with the illness back in 2006, before she passed away last year. The Transplant Foundation was chosen after Mr McMurray's wife Sharon donated her kidney to lifelong friend Tracey Aspin as reported in the Herald & Post earlier this year.

GOOD CAUSE:
Tony McMurray

To prepare for the climb Mr McMurray attended a winter skills course in the Lake District, has completed the three peaks of Yorkshire as part of another charity climb and has been training in Wales.

He said: "I'm continuing to work on my fitness and I have trips planned to the Peak District and Lake District in my final weeks of preparation."

"In terms of fundraising I always send out emails and newsletters before my challenge and our Tea Rooms customers continue to be most generous as the challenge draws nearer."

Donations can be made at the Tea Rooms in the high street, at the newly opened Green Room Café operated by Towcester Tea Rooms Outside Catering at South Northamptonshire Council's offices or by going online at www.justgiving.com/Mont-Blanc-2011

BUSINESSPROFILE

Underwoods Town and County, a long established name in the local property market has seen a number of exciting changes over the past year continually bringing a fresh approach to the residential property market in Northampton.

Having re-launched its sales department in 2010, Underwoods Town and County is already experiencing fantastic results.

Sales Manager Ben Mitchell said: "We've put a lot of focus into ensuring our property details, photographs, website and technology are better than the competition, ensuring your home stands out above the rest in this unpredictable market".

Building on this success, in April 2011 Underwoods Town and County also expanded its Wellingborough offices moving to larger and more prominent new premises, meaning that they can better showcase its properties in a modern and stylish shop window.

In addition to welcoming sales managers Mr Mitchell and Steven Poole who, with their fresh and pro-active approach to selling property, have successfully driven forward the sales department, the directors are also delighted to announce that long standing member of the team Lee Bosley has recently been appointed lettings director.

Mr Bosley said "I am delighted to have been made a director of such an excellent company. We've got a great team here and that makes such a difference."

Business Profile:

The Old Dairy Farm Country Shopping Centre in Upper Stowe is celebrating its 25th year and wants visitors to join them for the special occasion.

There will be special events, along with all the usual attractions, to help mark the anniversary.

The centre, just off the A5 between Weedon and Towcester, opened on July 1, 1986, making new use of buildings which were no longer required for the day to day running of the farm and which may otherwise have become derelict.

It was started by Helen Brodie and her late husband Denis who had the foresight and the enthusiasm to create something quite special from nothing.

Opening before the days of mass Sunday shopping the couple wanted to offer something different for visitors to enjoy.

And although it has grown over the last 25 years, the centre still manages to keep the spirit of that original idea. To help Helen and her team celebrate the anniversary a number of events are planned.

This Saturday there will be an outdoor antiques and collectables fair from 10am to 4.30pm, while on Sunday between 11am and 3pm there will be a dog show in support of the Warwickshire & Northamptonshire Air Ambulance with companion, pedigree and fun classes. A barbecue will also be on offer.

On Sunday, July 10 between 10am and 4.30pm there will be a family fun day with bouncy slide, mini fairground rides, face painting, vintage tractor display, popcorn and candyfloss, a barbecue and special offers in selected shops.

At the Old Dairy Farm Country Shopping Centre entrance to the centre, shops, gallery and restaurant is free with free car parking.

It is open daily from 10am to 5pm. For more details contact 01327 340525 or visit www.old-dairy-farm-centre.co.uk

PROMS IN THE PARK

Bedford Park
July 23

AS the lead up to this year's Proms In The Park continues, organisers, The Full Effect, have announced a number of additional 'treats' for music lovers.

These special extras are all being performed before the main Proms programme - which this year returns to Bedford Park - even starts.

First up will be Cherry Lee Mewis.

Cherry recently returned from America, after performing at Market Street Festival in Mississippi and also in Memphis. Cherry has been nominated as the best female vocalist at the British Blues Awards.

Following Cherry, will be talented local musician Simone Policella.

Simone last played a set at the Proms two years ago and since then has signed to a major record label and is currently recording her new album which will be launched next year.

Simone is a singer/songwriter who has been likened to Tori Amos.

Finally, a warm welcome back is extended to the Bedford Town Band, who were established in 1894 to promote Bedford and contribute to the cultural and artistic life of the town.

They are part of the national brass band championship section, the highest level for brass bands in the country.

Customer demand prompts estate agency to launch own lettings service

AWARD-winning local estate agency Connells in Northampton is pleased to announce the launch of its new lettings service.

Headed up by lettings manager Mark Alvis, Connells Lettings will respond to increasing demand for rental property in and around Northampton.

Mr Alvis said: "The launch of Connells lettings service is great news for local landlords and tenants.

"We are seeing a very buoyant lettings market in Northampton but not enough rental properties to fulfil demand. This new lettings service aims to help landlords expand their portfolios and provide tenants with greater access to high quality rental properties."

Branch Manager Gemma Downham said: "It's very exciting to be launching lettings in our town centre office. Our office is in a great location which will benefit landlords marketing their properties in our window. Our clients would often ask us if we did lettings, so we've listened and invested in this new service." Connells Lettings will encompass all aspects of the letting process, from finding tenants their perfect home to advising buy-to-let investors and the expertise Connells can offer on things like conveyancing, surveys and mortgages.

Landlords and tenants are invited to call Mr Alvis on 01604 638281 or email mark.alvis@connells.co.uk

Legal firm first to gain quality mark

SP LAW Solicitors has become Northamptonshire's first legal practice to secure membership to the Law Society's Conveyancing Quality Scheme - the mark of excellence for the home buying process.

The practice underwent rigorous assessment by the Law Society in order to secure CQS status, which marks the firm out as meeting high standards in the residential conveyancing process.

Sundip Patel, a solicitor and partner at SP Law Solicitors, said: "We are delighted to have secured CQS status. It is recognition of the high standards we provide to our residential property clients and is a signal to future home buyers of the excellent service level we provide at what is often a stressful time for many people."

"The overall beneficiaries will be clients who use SP Law Solicitors when buying a home. They will receive a reliable, efficient service as recognised by the CQS standard."

The CQS scheme requires practices to undergo a strict assessment, compulsory training, self reporting, random audits and annual reviews in order to maintain CQS status.

It is open only to members of the Law Society and to those who meet the demanding standards.

Waste not, want not firm's in the pink thanks to re-using

IT'S the one pink building in Northampton you can see from Google and probably even space.

The property in question is Day's Re-use Centre Ltd which is located in St Peters Way, off Tanner Street, Northampton.

The ADR Group is a family run business which was formed in 2004 by Aaron Day and is one of the largest privately owned waste management companies in the county.

As well as Total Waste, it currently runs household recycling centres in Milton Keynes, Bedfordshire and Buckinghamshire.

The company, which has been running the re-use shop in Northampton for a year, won a contract from Northamptonshire County Council to take away items like three-piece suites or televisions which, in the past, would have gone to landfill.

Operations manager, Mr Day said: "We believe re-use comes before recycle."

"By having a re-use shop it is more professional than having people buying items at the recycling centres."

"It is better as it offers better value and it stops items like a three-piece suite going to waste and we would bring it back here and re-use it. We have six collections a day and we will go around to customers to collect what they want to get rid of."

This re-use also extends to businesses which are clearing out computers or office furniture or pubs clearing out glasses or unwanted furniture.

The joy of this work for Mr Day is he never knows what is going to come into the 5,000 square foot building.

And if you see the premises you might recognise that pink colour.

It is the same as the recycling bins you see around the town. The idea for the pink brand came about when Mr Day's mum developed breast cancer.

He decided to create 50 limited edition pink bins with the breast cancer logo.

As a result of the popularity of the bins, pink became the company's corporate colour.

And Mr Day has expanded the business in St Peters Way by opening up Pinks Café and a garden centre.

Day's Recycling and Re-use Centre is open seven days a week from Monday to Saturday 8am to 7pm and on Sunday 10am to 4pm.

Tiredness danger of workers on road

LEADERS of Britain's car and lorry fleets met in Northampton earlier this month to address the issue of sleep apnoea, which can cause drivers to fall asleep at the wheel.

The conference - 'Sleep apnoea - the hidden killer' - run by road safety charity BRAKE, heard that 700,000 Britons are thought to suffer from sleep apnoea.

More than 160 deaths are caused by tired drivers annually.

Expert speakers addressed guests.

We have a family ticket for four people to offer for the performance on Saturday, July 16 at 10.30am.

To be in with a chance of winning, answer this question: What is the name of the Flathampton doctor?

Send your answers, along with your name, address and daytime telephone number, to competitions@HPnorthants.co.uk

Entries must reach us by 9am on Monday, July 11.

INTERACTIVE family show Flathampton is back by popular demand and we have a family ticket for four to give away to enjoy the fun.

Following its sell-out success last year, Royal & Derngate is once again transforming the whole of the Derngate auditorium into a giant children's playmat for a fantastic show for children and families to enjoy together.

Flathampton will run for a fortnight from Friday, July 15 to Saturday, July 30.

The people of Flathampton get on with life as best they can but everything in town is as flat as a pancake – from the sandwiches in Paolo's Café to the stethoscope on Doctor Zee's desk.

But when Kate comes back from the big city she brings a truckload of weird and wonderful solid objects for her old friends and introduces a new dimension to life in Flathampton.

The show will take you on an amazing interactive journey round the biggest playmat you will ever see, as you help Kate and the Flathamptonites to build up their town.

You'll collect your Flathampton money, spend it at the shops, ice some cakes and even try your hand at taking photos for the local newspaper or taking part in a fashion show.

Tickets are £6 each for weekday term-time performances which are ideal for early years (under six) and their families, along with schools and nurseries.

Tickets are £7 each for weekend and school holiday performances which are suitable for all.

For performance times or to book, call 01604 624811.

There are also two evening performances, with a grown up twist, on Thursday, July 28 and Friday, July 29 for teenagers and adults only. Tickets are £10.

Raunchy play set to paint the town red

THE warning of 'strong language and scenes of a sexual nature which may cause offence' on posters and flyers for Moulton Players' latest show, Bouncers, seems to have prompted a rush for tickets.

Four actors play all the characters in this raunchy play by John Godber.

Godber's most popular play is set in and around a nightclub with the action focusing on the exploits of the four doormen and their customers. The play creates a vivid picture of the relentless hedonism of nightlife.

In the Moulton Players' version

the nightclub is set in Northampton. The Moulton stage set involves many scene changes done in a matter of seconds. The effect is a production which is fast paced, slick, funny and very believable.

It runs from Monday, July 4 to Saturday, July 9 at Moulton Theatre in Cross Street.

The remaining tickets are available from the theatre at the coffee mornings on Saturdays or from the box office (evenings only) on 0770 448351.

Breakfast club- with Heart FM's
Stuart and Natalie

IT's been another busy week and we were pleased to chat to long serving Dragon, Duncan Bannatyne who has a new book out.

We spoke to him after he'd done a load of interviews that morning so he was a bit jaded!

As a result we were a little nervous about how he would feel playing along with our Stuart and Natalie's 'Den-style interview'.

Stuart started by asking Duncan why we should invest five minutes of our valuable time hearing him promote his book.

He told us: "You'll learn how not to make mistakes in business and you'll get the advice on how to be more successful than me or Peter Jones or even Theo Paphitis."

We then asked him why his book is so different to Peter Jones' recent one.

Surely this is just a case of another book about how to make money in business.

He replied, his tongue firmly in his cheek: "Have you read his book?"

Those Dragons are seriously competitive.

After much deliberation Stuart decided the idea of promoting a book on a radio show wasn't original enough so declared himself 'out'.

I said I would be happy to 'invest' if Duncan gave me free gym membership.

Duncan struck a hard bargain saying: "I'll give you free membership if you go four times a week and every week you don't go, you have to give me £50." Good motivation to get in shape I reckon.

We also heard from Chris O'Dowd, star of the IT Crowd and currently appearing as the cute cop in Bridesmaids.

If you've not heard this movie is the latest 'female comedy', not a chic flick.

Chris said to any guys refusing to see it to 'get over themselves, it's funny'.

Personally I loved it and gave it 10/10.

Budding musicians set to do battle as bands compete

WHAT'S ON

THE MMG Northamptonshire Battle of the Bands 2011 will be taking place from next month until September 2011 with events around the county.

The prizes on offer are designed to support new talent and accelerate the development of the artist. These include recording time, merchandise packages, tours, festival dates and a place on the MMG

Marshall Showcase event in October with acts from across the UK.

To get an entry form email majick@live.co.uk with the subject 'NHANTS ENTRY'. Band members must be 16 plus to enter.

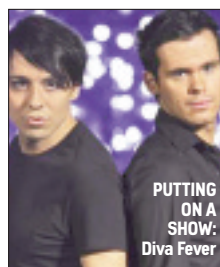

Stepping out for two days of fun

THOUSANDS of people will head to Wootton Fields in Northampton from tomorrow as the sixth Walk In The Park festival returns.

S-Club, Diva Fever, Real Thing and Curiosity Killed The Cat headline tomorrow's 'Family Friday Night', while Saturday is given over to the town's schools during the afternoon and to local bands in the evening.

"We've got a fantastic line-up on Friday night and I have no doubt at all that all our visitors will have a great night out," said Walk In The Park organising committee chairman Brandon Eldred.

"Being able to attract

acts of the quality of which we have done this year says how far we have come over six years.

"We've had fantastic feedback from local people and ticket sales for Friday have gone great, though there will still be entry on the gate on the night.

"Apart from the star names performing, we also have lots of sideshows dotted around the park and a funfair too. It's something for all the family.

"Saturday is free entry all day and again there'll be lots of things going on all around the park, including pupils from local schools performing live during the afternoon.

"In the evening we've got a great line-up of up and coming local bands playing for us and once again this is proving a really popular opportunity for them all."

Tickets for tomorrow night cost £12 for adults, £6 for children or £26 for a family of four.

What's On 24/7

Luke's now ready to rock Roadmender

MUSICIAN Luke Girvan will mark the completion of his solo EP with two shows in his hometown.

The first show will take place at the Greasy Lips club night at Northampton's Roadmender on Saturday.

He will be performing alongside a host of unsigned bands.

Luke said: "I've wanted to get into the studio with my solo material for a long time now but I am glad I waited."

"You see, since taking the band out all over the country and playing to a lot of audiences, I've changed, the fan base has grown, the band has grown with the addition of a brass section, everything has developed and fresh ideas have come pouring out of my head."

"What I took into the studio is definitely a good indication of what it is that I do best and I hope will let many people know I have arrived."

"I will be releasing my first singles later in the year and putting tours together in support of them.

"The rest of the album is soon to follow, the material is there already but I want to listen to my supporters and the industry before I go flying into it. I like to keep my options open."

Saturday's event will be hosted by Alan McGee who co-founded Creation Records and has been involved with a host of bands such as Oasis.

Alan will also be DJ-ing alongside other DJs.

Tickets for Greasy Lips are £7 in advance. Doors open at 8pm and anyone under 14 must be accompanied by an adult.

Luke will perform in the town again next month at N-Town Live.

It is also at The Roadmender on Thursday, July 21.

It is £5 per ticket which also includes entry to Skint Disco.

Luke added: "I am so thankful for where music has taken me already but it definitely wouldn't have happened if it wasn't for those who make it to my shows and this is why I can't wait to be back in Northampton again."

Connells

Connells expands with new lettings division

Award-winning local estate agency Connells in Northampton is pleased to announce the launch of its new lettings service. Headed up by recently appointed Lettings Manager Mark Alvis, Connells new division will respond to increasing demand for rental property in and around Northampton.

New manager Mark joins Connells lettings service with over 16 years estate agency experience. He has been based exclusively in Northamptonshire throughout his career, so has an excellent working knowledge of the local housing market.

"The launch of Connells lettings service is great news for local landlords and tenants," says Mark. "We are seeing a very buoyant lettings market in Northampton at the moment but not enough rental properties to fulfil demand. Connells new lettings service aims to address this by helping landlords expand their portfolios and providing tenants with greater access to high quality rental properties.

"Our lettings service will encompass all aspects of the letting process, from finding tenants their perfect home to advising buy-to-let investors tying in with the sales side of our business and the expertise we can offer on things like conveyancing, surveys and mortgages."

"Connells provides an excellent lettings service in other towns across the country and I'm delighted that this is being expanded into Northampton," says Jeffrey Servent, Area Director for Connells in Northamptonshire.

"Prior to setting up the new service, our customers would often ask if we did lettings," Jeff continues. "Connells has a long and trusted reputation in Northampton so customers were keen to use us for more than just sales. We listened to our clients and invested in setting up this new service."

Branch Manager Gemma Downham had this to say on the launch: "It's very exciting to be launching lettings in our town centre office. Our office is in a great location which will benefit landlords marketing their properties in our window so I am confident this will be well received in the town."

All landlords and tenants are invited to please call Lettings Manager Mark Alvis on 01604 638281 or email: mark.alvis@connells.co.uk

...Astra GTC

THESE are the first official shots of the new Astra GTC, which will lay down the gauntlet to VW's Scirocco and Renault's Megane Coupe with a heady mix of dynamic excellence, dramatic design features and competitive pricing with order books now open at Vauxhall retailers.

Closely based on last year's stunning GTC Paris concept, the production Astra GTC enters the UK market – the biggest in Europe for this model – priced from £18,495.

But even in entry-level trim, the Astra GTC adopts the sophisticated front suspension from the Insignia VXR, featuring Vauxhall's HiPerStrut (High Performance Strut), combined with the clever link rear axle for unmatched stability and handling precision.

Brit Mark Adams, Vauxhall's vice president of design, has aimed to create a car that looks like it's been plucked from the class above, with its low, wide stance and simple, yet rakish lines.

Right from the start of the Astra GTC's development the target was to deliver a focused and driver-orientated feel to the car and one that worked well on UK roads.

The third body style to come off the new Astra's Delta platform, the only elements the GTC shares with its siblings are door handles and the roof aerial – even the wheelbase and tracks are different. Since the Astra GTC shares no body panels with either the Astra Hatch or Sports Tourer, it has a unique appearance in the range and one which has largely stayed faithful to last year's stunning GTC Paris concept.

Mr Adams said: "We wanted the Astra GTC to be the ultimate expression of Vauxhall's design language and to embody our passion for the motor car.

"But we didn't want emotion to get in the way of functionality: the Astra GTC still needed to be clever, affordable and practical."

The GTC can be ordered with a choice of four engines – one diesel and three petrols. With 165PS, the 2.0 CDTi is an upgraded version of the diesel that's fitted to some models in the Insignia and Astra ranges.

All engines have a diesel particulate filter, six-speed transmission and Start/Stop as standard, maximising economy and performance.

Start/Stop and a six-speed gearbox are also standard on both versions of the 1.4-litre Turbo petrol engine.

But don't be fooled by the GTC's swooping lines and sporting looks: unlike many of its competitors, functionality has not been compromised.

Not only can the GTC accommodate four adults in comfort but its luggage compartment provides between 370 and 1,235 litres – over 200 litres more than some of the competition.

Standard equipment is generous no matter which GTC model customers choose.

Even in entry-level Sport trim, the GTC comes equipped with 18-inch alloy wheels, DAB stereo and USB functionality. Move up to the top-spec SRI and buyers get as standard; tinted glass, onboard computer, leather-trimmed steering wheel and fog lamps.

The latest generation Bi-Xenon Advanced Forward Lighting (AFL) which offers nine separate light beams, is optional across the range.

A range of new colours and materials, bespoke to the GTC, set the car apart from others in the Astra range. Morello Red, a new premium leather trim, is also available as an option and brings with it six-way adjustable front seats.

The range starts at £18,495 for the 120PS Sport 1.4 Turbo and extends to £22,430 for the 165PS SRI 2.0 CDTi.

As with all Vauxhalls, the GTC comes with a 100,000 mile Lifetime Warranty, available to first owners. This is supported by 12 months breakdown cover and six years body panel anti-perforation warranty.

ASK DAVE

Question. Do I need to take my car to a main dealer for it's service?
Answer. NO, European Commission rules on car block exemption came into full effect in October 2003. This new ruling allows independent garages the same access to technical information on your car from the manufacturer, and more importantly, it means you do not need to go back to a franchise dealer to retain warranty cover. In Town Automotive only use O.E Quality servicing parts.

Question . My engine management light has come up on my dashboard, what could be the problem?
Answer. This could be due to a multitude of reasons depending on your vehicle, simply bring your car down to In Town Automotive where we can run a FREE BOSCH diagnostic check on the vehicle.

Question . My EXHAUST seems to be making a loud rattling sound and I' seem to be using more fuel, can you help?
Answer. The rattling could be something as simple as a loose or broken bracket, but with the fuel issue too you may require a new section of exhaust, however we keep the largest stock of exhausts on site to get you back on the road quickly and cost effectively.

Question . Why do I have a grinding noise when I press the brake pedal?
Answer. This sounds like you may need new brake pads or shoes, but we'll inspect them and show you them first as it could be as simple as a trapped stone, pop down for a FREE BRAKE CHECK.

Question . When I'm on the A45 driving at 60mph my steering wheel shakes, any ideas?
Answer. Well it's unlikely to be the road causing the problem but you may have worn TYRES or simply need the wheels re-balanced. Pop down for a FREE COFFEE whilst we take a look and advise you accordingly.

Question . Last year I had to pay another local garage to get my MOT re-tested after it failed is this right?
Answer. An MOT station is within its rights to do so, BUT at In Town Automotive we offer FREE MOT re-tests to all our customers.

Lane eyeing first pro win after hours studying tapes of debut draw

BOXING

ASHLEY Lane is determined to make up for the way his first professional bout ended when he steps into the ring again at the Park Inn Hotel on Saturday evening.

Two months ago, Lane had his debut against Ryan McNicol stopped due to bad cut above his eye due to an accidental clash of heads in the second round.

The contest was declared a technical draw under a recent rule change by the British Boxing Board of Control, where previously it would have gone down as a loss.

But that was little comfort for former Far Cotton Boys ABC featherweight Lane, who was in control of the contest before the premature end.

"I was really disappointed with the way the first one ended – that wasn't how it was meant to happen," he said.

"If it was going to finish early it was going to be from a knock-out and not a head clash.

"I've got to thank the new rules, but then I found out that if the second round had ended it would have got to the scorecards and I would have won.

"I wanted to get to the end of the second round, but in the first round I felt good. I felt sharp and strong, but I felt like I really had him from the first few seconds."

Lane believes he is better prepared for this fight than he was his first and has spent hours going over the video of it to try and find areas for improvement – just as he did as an amateur.

He said: "I like to watch every fight that has been recorded, but the first time I watch it, I will watch it ten or 15 times over and over.

"People say to me, 'why do you keep watching it?' I'm analysing it, seeing what I can do better and then I'll watch it every now and again.

"Even then, I will watch it four or five times because every time you see some different things."

Meanwhile, Lane's former club-mate Nathan Reeve (3(1)-0) is looking to preserve his unbeaten record against former Olympian Salim Salimov in a six-round contest.

It is the first time that Reeve will have been this distance, but he is not fazed by that prospect and believes it will play into his hands.

He said: "I think the longer rounds will suit me because, although I've got an aggressive style, when it's controlled aggression I find it a lot easier.

"I find I can control the fight at that pace. I'm looking forward to my first six-rounder and seeing if I can control it a little easier.

"It will be good if I do because the rounds are going to start going up from here.

"He's not going to be a mug, he got to a higher standard that I did as an amateur, but it's the professionals now.

"It's a totally different game and I've just got to show him why I'm undefeated.

"I'm working hard and I've just got to go for it."

The other fight of the night sees former Kings Heath amateur Liam Daly (2-0) up against James Tucker in a four-round light heavyweight encounter.

Tickets for the event are £30 for standard seats and £15 for anyone aged 15 and under when accompanied by an adult.

The evening will also see the world heavyweight title fight between David Haye and Wladimir Klitschko shown on the big screen once the other bouts have finished.

■ PAUL David enjoyed a successful return to the ring after nearly a year out, beating Billy Boyle on points over four rounds in Sheffield on Saturday evening.

The Northampton super middleweight was fighting on the undercard of Kell Brook's WBA Inter-Continental welterweight title contest against Lovemore N'Dou.

David has been out of the ring since losing to Patrick Mendy in the final of Prizefighter last June due to injury and proposed fights falling through.

But he was back in action at the weekend, taking a 40-37 win on the referee's scorecard over 'The People's Poet' Boyle at the Hillsborough Leisure Centre.

'I'm a leader'

New boy Turnbull out to guide Cobblers to promotion

BY MARC BAZELEY

marc.bazeley@nporthants.co.uk

SINCE he first took over as Northampton Town manager, Gary Johnson has often repeated the mantra of wanting a team full of leaders.

After clinching the signing of Stockport County captain Paul Turnbull on a two-year contract, he certainly seems to be getting closer to that aim.

The 22-year-old, who at 16 became Stockport's youngest-ever player, was entrusted with the captaincy by former boss Paul Simpson at the start of last season.

"The gaffer gave me the captains armband for a reason," said Turnbull. "You don't get it for no reason so hopefully I can bring it here to Northampton and do my best.

"You've got to start young in this occupation. You've got to do what you do best and do your leadership on the team. The gaffer said he wants a team full of leaders and wants the players to push on for promotion, and I think I've got that."

The 2010/11 season ended in relegation to the Blue Square Bet Premier for the Hatters, bringing to an end their 106-year stay in the Football League.

For Turnbull, the club's longest-serving player, this meant moving on and as soon as Johnson came calling he was keen to sign on at Sixfields.

He said: "It was the right time to leave. I've had ten years there and I think I needed a change to try and move on my career.

"As soon as I spoke to the gaffer he wanted me to come down and I wanted to stay in the Football League.

"It was hard to turn down and as soon as I spoke to the gaffer I wanted to sign straight away.

"I was sat there waiting to see what happens, and thankfully I got the call last Saturday saying it has all gone through.

"No-one wants to play in the Conference, it's a very tough league to get out of. As soon as this came in I was happy and I wanted to sign."

It was the 2-2 draw against Northampton that sealed County's fate and Turnbull admitted he was shocked that they ended up going down.

His aim is now to put that behind him and help Northampton achieve their aim of promotion to League One this season.

"Last season was weird," he said. "We had a good team there and I was surprised we went down when we did.

"I thought we could fight right until the end, but relegation was there and it happened.

"No-one wants a relegation on their CV, so hopefully I'm going to bounce straight back and get promotion."

Full back Nana has also put pen to paper on the two-year contract that he agreed at the start of the summer, completing his move from Peterborough United.

Boss Johnson also unveiled former Chelsea defender David Lee as the man to replace Malcolm Crosby as his assistant.

Lee has previously worked under Johnson as a development coach at Bristol City. He later took on the role of chief scout at Ashton Gate before resigning in May.

NEW START: Paul Turnbull signs for Northampton after ten years at Stockport County

Sutil satisfied with third points finish of season

FORMULA ONE

ADRIAN Sutil claimed a ninth place finish to secure two points for Force India at Sunday's European Grand Prix in Valencia.

The German (pictured right) was able to improve one place on his qualifying performance on a day where all of the drivers found overtaking opportunities limited.

It was Sutil's third points finish of the season and he was delighted to have secured that result.

He said: "To finish ninth feels great and I'm pleased that we've managed to get the maximum from the car through the whole weekend.

"In the middle of the race I had some clear track, good race pace and we were up to P8. "After the final stop, I came out behind [Jaime] Alguersuari, who was doing a two-stop race. I tried all I could to overtake him, but the DRS zone did not make overtaking very easy and I had to settle for P9.

"The car felt really nice to drive and I'm really happy for the whole team with this result."

Team-mate Paul di Resta was unable to make it a double points finish for the Silverstone-based team. He came home 14th after a difficult weekend.

He was only able to get in seven timed laps during Friday practise after test driver Nico Hulkenberg crashed the car during the first session.

The British rookie then qualified 12th, but lost out on the chance of a points paying position during the final round of pit stops.

"I'm not sure that we got the strategy quite right," said di Resta. "There were a couple of laps in the first stint where my tyres had gone off and we didn't stop early enough.

"It's tough when the tyres go off because it costs you around two and a half seconds per lap, which is a lot when the fight in the middle of the pack is so close. Even without those issues it would have been tough to score points because overtaking was more difficult than I thought it would be, even with the DRS zone. So it hasn't been the best of weekends, but I'll put that behind me and look forward to my home race at Silverstone."

O'Brien's Irish eyes are smiling as World Cup dream kept alive

JUMPING FOR JOY: Niall O'Brien, pictured in action for Northants, is delighted Ireland have chance to qualify for the World Cup

BY MARC BAZELEY

marcbazeley@hpnorthants.co.uk

NIALL O'Brien has backed the ICC's u-turn which will allow the Associate nations the chance to qualify for at least the next two Cricket World Cups.

The game's governing body had announced earlier this year that the 2015 event would be restricted to just the ten Full Members – a decision that was roundly criticised.

However, it was decided at their annual conference in Hong Kong this week that the next tournament in Australia and New Zealand will remain at 14 teams.

That will then be reduced to ten for the 2019 edition, made up of the top eight ranked sides in the world plus two from a qualifying tournament.

Northamptonshire wicketkeeper O'Brien, who has represented Ireland in the last two World Cups, was delighted that they are now being allowed the opportunity to play in it again.

He said: "All we ever wanted was the chance to be able to qualify for the World Cup.

"There were no presumptions about us expecting to be involved in the 2015 tournament.

"We've got that opportunity now and it's up to us to make sure that we qualify for the next tournament in Australia and New Zealand.

"They [Cricket Ireland] will be looking towards the 2015 World Cup now.

"The 2011 one came around very quickly after 2007 so they will be having a good look at the under-19s and getting all of the coaching structures in place already."

Ireland have established themselves as the top Associate team, with shock victories over test playing nations Pakistan, Bangladesh and England in the last two tournaments.

Those results have strengthened the case for including the Associate nations, including the likes of Holland, Scotland and Kenya, in the showpiece event.

Cricket Ireland chief executive Warren Deutrom has even spoken about making the step up to Test match cricket one day, although O'Brien concedes that is a long way off – should it ever happen.

However, he said: "People realise that we are a good team.

"Speaking to the South Africans at the last World Cup, their team meeting for when they played Ireland was as long as it was for when they faced any of the Test nations.

"We've got quality players coming through that are playing county cricket and long may that continue."

For now, the Irish have to hope that they will be able to secure more one-day international matches against the top nations.

They played a two-match series against Pakistan earlier this year and have an annual fixture against England, but are keen to face others more regularly.

O'Brien said: "We would love to be on the two-year touring calendar and have some tours in place as well, although that doesn't look like happening at the moment. It would be great if we could be involved in a Triangular Tournament with England and one of the touring teams.

"If we are going to keep improving and play as well as we can, we need to play against better teams."

Haywood will hope for second shot at international silverware after Baby Blacks deny England kids world crown for third time

RUGBY UNION

MIKEY Haywood and his England Under-20 team-mates once again found themselves coming off second best to New Zealand in the final of the IRB Junior World Championship on Sunday.

The Northampton Saints Academy hooker played 73 minutes in the final in Padova, Italy, as England went down 33-22, having lead for a large part of the first half thanks to Christian Wade's converted try.

It is the third time that the 'Baby Blacks' have defeated their English counterparts in the final of this tournament, but head coach Rob Hunter felt things could have easily gone the other way.

"It was a frustrating game against New Zealand because we could have won it, but we didn't execute a few of our chances and that's what has cost us," he said.

"Of course we're still very disappointed but we've had a chance to reflect on what was an outstanding season for the lads – a Six Nations Grand Slam and a Junior World Championship final is an outstanding effort."

At 19, Haywood will likely get another chance to play in the Junior World Championship again. Next year's tournament is in South Africa and he will hope to be on the plane again.

But for some of his team-mates, including captain Alex Gray, this was their final chance to win the tournament – something that was not lost on former Saints player and Academy chief Hunter.

He said: "A lot of these players won't get the chance to play for the U20s again, but they've been an excellent group to work with. There have been some notable successes along the way, and I have no doubt that we'll see a few of these lads in England jerseys in the future.

"What's important now is that the lads who are with us next season, use their experiences from this season to bring on the lads who will be coming through."

■ THE fixtures for the 2011/12 Aviva Premiership season will be released later today. Visit www.northampton-news-hp.co.uk/sport to see who Northampton Saints will face and when.

Gavin relieved at Gunter's escape

MOTORSPORT

OLIVER Gavin's latest race in the Rolex Grand-Am Sports Car Series came to a premature end following a horrendous crash involving Banner Racing co-driver Gunter Schaldach.

The Canadian took the wheel of their Chevrolet Camaro for the start of the race at Road America in Wisconsin, but suffered a mechanical failure in the braking system before the first corner.

That saw him crash into the Mazda of Joe Foster, sending both cars skidding across the gravel trap. Schaldach's car then collided with the tyre barrier before being flipped over the safety fence and rolling several times.

Fortunately he was able to walk away from the accident (pictured above) unscathed, much to the relief of Gavin and his Banner Racing team.

"I'm just really thankful that Gunter was able to walk away from this, and that the Pratt & Miller-built Chevy Camaro withstood the accident extremely well," he said.

"Within five seconds Gunter was on the radio telling us that he was fine, which was a massive relief.

"I hope Joe [Foster] is okay, and want to send best wishes to him for a speedy recovery."

Yardley Hastings racer Gavin's next race is the American Le Mans Series round at Lime Rock Park, Connecticut, on Saturday, July 9.
